334 Arizona St., Hollywood. Call 954-920-6523, or visit tacobeachshack.com.

On prime real estate just a block off the beach in Hollywood, Taco Beach Shack offers loungey outdoor seating; cheap, delicious tacos; and a promise: If you get too drunk, you can always book a room at the nearby hotel. The restaurant — and the hotel — are owned by the same team from Maxine's Bistro & Bar and The Tavern at Hotel Croydon both in South Beach. The tacos come with a choice of corn, whole wheat, or soft flour tortilla and are stuffed with cheddar cheese, cabbage, cilantro cream sauce, pico de gallo, and fresh chopped cilantro and onion. If you stop here, you can't leave without trying the Korean short rib and kimchi slaw taco — best served in the restaurant's homemade crispy fried shells. Of course, they're all good — from the fried calamari and Baja-style mahi to the tender brisket, flavor-packed carnitas, or crispy shrimp served with a hearty pineapple salsa (pictured here).
